DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-37, and 102-105, are drawn to a video and/or audio signal processing system including the feature for recording and reproducing “a first generator for generating first material identifiers for identifying respective pieces of material on the medium, and a second generator for generating second, universally unique, identifiers for pieces of material, second identifiers being generated in respect of one or more of the first identifiers”, classified in class 386, subclass 95.
  - II. Claims 38-45, are drawn to a digital video tape recorder including the feature for “being operable to store a material identifying code in the user-definable bits of the slant track video timecode and in the user-definable bits of the linear track timecode”, classified in class 386, subclass 65.
  - III. Claims 46-88, and 106, are drawn to a recording and reproducing apparatus including the feature for “recording audio and/or video signal information signals onto a liner recording medium, and to record metadata associated with said information signals onto said linear recording media with said information signals, wherein metadata is recorded repeatedly”, classified in class 386, subclass 124.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination I features a audio and video processing system for recording unique first and second material identifiers for identifying respective audio and video material, has separate utility such as a digital video tape recorder for recording material identifying code on user-definable bits of slant and linear track timecode, and does not require the particular feature of Group II for patentability. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

3. Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination I features a audio and video processing system for recording unique first and second material identifiers for identifying respective audio and video material, has separate utility such as an apparatus for recording metadata associated with audio and video information onto linear recording media, and does not require the particular feature of Group III for patentability. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

4. Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination II features a digital video tape recorder for recording material identifying code on user-definable bits of slant and linear track timecode, has separate utility such as an apparatus for recording metadata associated with audio and video information onto linear recording media, and does not require the particular feature of Group III for patentability. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for one Group is not required for the other, and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Art Unit: 2621

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
